

Carr & Co

Memories of Joan (?Jane) Dickson, Tunbridge Wells resident:

“Some of my earliest memories are of my parents shopping at Carr’s corner for their groceries.

Butter was still being taken from a large block and moulded into smaller portions with two wooden pats. There was always lots to watch as nothing was pre-packed. Next door there was a baker, a tiny narrow shop with lovely smells coming from the bakehouse at the back, and next door to that, a greengrocer.”
